More Border Shootings Revive Old Berlin Tension

AMERICAN JEEPS line up in Berlin's Potsdamer Platz, where the Soviet and U. S. zones meet. Beyond sign (mid-background) a jeepload of Russians rides on patrol. This is the friction-fraught area where a similar patrol seized Thomas P. Hendon, U. S. military government official. (International)

BY RICHARD K. O'MALLEY
BERLIN, Aug. 25—(AP)—Border shootings of Germans in Berlin and Bavaria kept tension between the west and Russia alive today.

American authorities in Nuernberg said Russian zone shot and killed a German intelligence agent of the U. S. army who was fleeing across the Soviet zone border. They said the German, one of scores used by the army as intelligence agents, was at least 100 yards inside the American zone near Coburg when he was shot.

The military government said the German had been sent into the Russian zone by U. S. army intelligence agents to obtain some information the mission had labeled "top secret."

Withdrawal of armed Russian, American and British guards from the Potsdamer Platz, much-raided black market center where the zones of the blockaded city meet, eased pressure in this capital.

German police headquarters in western Berlin said persons in Russian uniforms wounded a German woman last night at the boundary between western Berlin and the surrounding Russian occupation zone.

Maj. Gen. Alexander Kotikov, Russian commandant of Berlin, renewed attacks on the anti-Communist city government, accusing it of illegally splitting the city police and other agencies, aiding the black market and disrupting "normal activities of the police."

Despite the continuing aggravations, the Russian-licensed Nacht Express headlined a dispatch on the Moscow diplomatic talks with this optimistic line: "hope rises for German peace."

The Russians, violating the four power agreements for free exchange of information in Germany, extended their "iron curtain" against publications sponsored by the U. S., Britain and France. American officials said the restrictions were exerted through a distribution monopoly which the Russians created.

Maj. Gen. Alexander Kotikov, Russian commandant in Berlin, accused the anti-Communist government of Berlin of unauthorized actions splitting city offices. Deputy Mayor Ferdinand Friedensburg rejected the charges.

An American spokesman said the Russian attack was "another attempt to increase the pressure" on the elected government. He saw the utterance as possibly intended to "justify eventual withdrawal of recognition" from the city regime. The Russian Sponsored Tageliche Rundschau charged anew that U. S. authorities in Wiesbaden had Einsiedel in May. He wrote for the paper but had been reported an aide of German Field Marshall Friedrich Von Paulus, who has been said in unverified accounts to be heading a Russian-trained army of German prisoners in the Soviet Union.

American authorities declined comment.

American and German officials in Coburg kept strict secrecy over the killing of the German on the Bavarian zonal border. The Russians said the man was an agent for the U. S. army intelligence service.

German police in the Russian zone shot him and he staggered to the U. S. zone and died.

Expansion of Schools Is Planned by Board

Sunnyside and Eastside Buildings Get Priority in Projected Program

Decision was made to enlarge Sunnyside and Eastside school buildings at a special meeting of the Board of Education Tuesday evening. The new construction was advised in a report by the special committee to investigate crowded conditions in the city schools. This group, composed of William Allen, Ray Brandenburg and Thomas Christopher, was appointed by president Robert A. Craig at the regular board meeting August 9.

The architectural firm of Thomas D. Laughlin of Lima is to be retained for the building program during the special meeting. This is the firm which acted as architect for the construction of Sunnyside and the addition to the Central High School building in 1939.

Winston W. Hill, legal advisor for the board, and George Sever, a contractor, were present in an advisory capacity.

After the plans are prepared, the two projects will be placed before the board, Supt. A. B. Murray said Wednesday. Later the project will be placed before the people in a future election.

It is not expected that the issue will be ready in time for the November election, Murray said. Although there will be no kindergarten in the 1948-49 school year because of the overcrowded conditions, plans for one are included in this new building program, he added.

Rehabilitation projects in some of the schools were also approved by the board at the Tuesday meeting. They included a new roof on the old section of the high school building and new window shades in Cherry Hill, part of East Side School, and on the second floor of the high school building.

State funds will pay for part of the total cost of $10,062 of this rehabilitation, Murray said and explained that Washington C. H. is a special aid district in the state education system because it has less property valuation per pupil than the average for the state.

Gas and Auto Tax Hike Wanted by Engineers

COLUMBUS, Aug. 25—(AP)—A demand for 50 percent raises in the gasoline tax and the auto license fee was voted yesterday by officers and directors of the county engineers' association of Ohio. The increase would bring the gas tax from four to six cents a gallon and the auto license from $10 to $15 a year for passenger cars.

16 Fliers Killed In Crash in Hawaii

HICKAM FIELD, Hawaii, Aug. 25—(AP)—Sixteen airmen died last night in the twisted, burned wreckage of an Okinawa-bound superfortress that crashed in one of the islands' worst peacetime air disasters.

Four others were burned seriously. One of the big bomber's four engines conked out three minutes after it took off from Barber's Point on another leg of its far eastern hop from the 98th bomber group's base at Spokane, Wash.

The pilot was ordered to land at the municipal airport, which adjoins Hickam Field.

The superfort came in at an altitude of 150 feet and missed the municipal airport. The pilot banked the plane in an attempt to circle and bring it back in but a wing caught a transport plane parked on a Hickam Field taxiway and crashed.

Witnesses said the four survivors either jumped or were thrown free from the wreckage. Doctors said their condition was serious.

Names of the dead and injured were withheld by the army pending notification of kin.

Draft Board Office To Open this Week

In order to be of service to prospective draftees who may be required to register for selective service in Fayette County from Aug. 30 until Sept. 16, the office of the newly appointed Fayette County Draft Board will be open Thursday, Friday and Saturday morning this week.

No registration will be made during that period but Mrs. Pauline Scott, clerk of the board, will be in the office to answer questions of those seeking advance information.

Because of the tie-up in the lease of the suite of offices which the board is later to occupy the draft board office for the present will be maintained in the office of Attorney John P. Case, 115½ East Court Street, second floor. This office is on the same floor as the suite to be occupied by the draft board later.

Boy, 15, Is Wounded As Camp Trip Ends

CINCINNATI, Aug. 25—(AP)—Raymond Byrd, 15, of Cincinnati, was in critical condition today in General Hospital from a gunshot wound in the abdomen. Donald Gray, 15, told police of nearby Loveland that he and Byrd were packing up yesterday at the end of a two-day camping trip when a .22 rifle accidentally was discharged.

Dayton Man Killed in Alaska; Daughter and Killer Found

DAYTON, Aug. 25—(AP)—The disappearance of a Dayton man and his 13-year-old daughter on a trip to Alaska was solved today, Sheriff Ben Smith said, with the news that he had been shot and killed in the Canadian wilderness. A man who accompanied him has been found with the daughter in Bushnell, Neb.

The victim was John A. McComas, 52, who left Dayton Aug. 4 with his daughter Louise in an automobile driven by Gustav O. Wiegner, 24, of Dayton.

Hiss Admits That He Knew His Accuser

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25—(AP)—Alger Hiss and his accuser, Whitaker Chambers, confronted each other in the congressional spy hearings today and were told that "certainly" one will be "tried for perjury."

The 43-year-old Hiss was sworn in as the first witness immediately after Thomas' statement.

Hiss then publicly admitted for the first time that he once had known Chambers, but said it was under the name of George Crosley.

At previous hearings, Chambers has accused Hiss of being a member of a Red underground in Washington in the 1930s. Hiss had denied it. Hiss also once testified publicly that he never knew Chambers. But since then, Hiss has told the committee in a closed door session that he did know Chambers under the name of Crosley.

With Hiss under oath, Robert E. Stripling, chief investigator for the committee, turned to Chambers, who was sitting behind one of the press tables.

"Mr. Chambers, will you stand up?" Stripling said.

Turning back to Hiss, the investigator inquired:

"Mr. Hiss have you ever seen this individual who is standing?"

"I have sir," Hiss answered.

Hiss said he knew Chambers as George Crosley in the winter of 1934 or 1935. He said he last saw Chambers in 1935.

A moment later, Chambers said he last saw Hiss in 1938.

Reds Retaliate For Protecting School Teacher

Diplomatic Links With U. S. Severed As New Crisis Develops

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
MOSCOW, Aug. 25—(AP)—The Russian government, reacting sharply to the expulsion of the Soviet consul general from New York, chopped off all consular ties with the United States today.

The action entails the closing of Russian consulates in New York and San Francisco, the closing of a United States consulate in Vladivostok and the voiding of an agreement granting the United States the right to open a consulate in Leningrad.

It grew out of what has become known as the Kasenkina affair, the case of a Russian school teacher, now in a New York hospital, who has been the subject of an international tug-of-war on the highest diplomatic levels.

The U. S. state department, on Aug. 19, asked the Russian government to recall Jacob M. Lomakin, the Soviet consul general in New York, because of his activities in the Kasenkina case. (Lomakin is scheduled to start home Saturday. The U. S. note informed the Russian government that Mrs. Kasenkina would not be turned over to Russian authorities against her will and rejected contentions that she had been kidnapped. In the hospital she has refused to see Soviet authorities. She scheduled a news conference yesterday but it was cancelled when she became exhausted by the preparations.)

The Soviet reply, as published by Tass, categorically rejected the United States contention that Lomakin and other Soviet officials had exceeded their legal rights in the cases of Mrs. Oksana Kasenkina and Mikhail I. Samarin, another Russian school teacher in the United States.

(Both teachers were in the United States as instructors of children of Soviet officials and decided against returning to Russia.)

Russian Logic
"The actions and statements of the Soviet government and its official representatives in the United States in the affair of Kasenkina and Samarin fully correspond to the lawful interests of the Soviet Union in defense of its citizens from criminal infringements on their freedom and civil rights," the note said.

"The Soviet government considers that during the most recent period in the United States circumstances have been created under which normal fulfillment by Soviet consulates in the United States of their functions has become impossible."

"In the note of the state department of Aug. 19 it is apparent that the government of the United States not only does not intend to stop those actions of American administrative authorities by whom such circumstances—to the degree that American police involved the Soviet consulate in New York on Aug. 12—are being created, but in fact justifies such clear violations."

(New York police entered the consulate on Aug. 12, the day Mrs. Kasenkina jumped from a third floor window of the building. She was taken to a hospital by the police.)
"In view of these circumstances," the note continued, "the Soviet government has taken the decision:

Six Injured in Crash Of Two Cars and Truck On CCC West of City

One Unidentified Driver Is in Jail; Two of Passengers Escape When Truck Hits Parked Car and Another Hits Wreck

Six persons were injured, four taken to hospitals, one locked up in the county jail and two escaped almost unscathed in a three-way traffic crash on the CCC highway, in front of Herb's Yum-Yum Restaurant 1½ miles west of this city, at 1:15 A. M. Wednesday, when a beer truck struck a car parked in the road with no lights showing, and an approaching car crashed into the first automobile which had been knocked into the path of the approaching car.

The car, a Chevrolet, parked in the road and with no lights showing, according to witnesses, contained Dennis Dalton, 21, colored, Chillicothe; Mary Ann Baker, 19, colored, Jeffersonville; Betty Blue, 26, colored, Jeffersonville, and another colored man who, officers said, was so badly intoxicated that he was picked up by the sheriff, turned over to the police, and locked up in the county jail. He was still unconscious many hours later, officers said. His name was not known.

Sheriff Orland Hays and Deputy Sheriff Guy Carter, as well as members of the police force, investigated the wreck.

Sheriff Hays said that, according to the story told by Arthur McKinley Glass, 49, Zanesville, driver of a new Diamond T truck loaded with beer, he was headed eastward, traveling at a good rate of speed, and when close upon it, saw a parked automobile in the road (Please Turn to Page Two)

Recently I wrote a short yarn for this column regarding potato seed balls which are frequently mistaken for green tomatoes growing on potato vines.

One man has since shown me some of the "green tomatoes" he found growing on his potato vines. Because it is highly informative and puts at rest the old belief that tomatoes grow on potato vines, I am quoting a late news release from the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station at Wooster, which follows:

"Some of the newer potato varieties produce green berries that look like small tomatoes. Stories circulate that potato vines have tomatoes on them. Actually, explains John Bushnell, horticulturist at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, the berries are simply the normal seed balls of fertile varieties. They are a curiosity only because all of the older standard varieties are sterile and never produce seed."

"Home gardeners finding these for the first time wonder what they would get if they planted the seed. The answer is that they will get a heterogeneous collection of new kinds of potatoes, and all of them likely to be quite worthless."

"Even with the best of care the plants never become normal size the first year. One or two tubers the size of a hen's egg is all that can be expected from the best plants. If any is suspected of being a new and superior potato, its tubers may be saved for planting in the regular way in comparison with good named varieties. The chances are perhaps one in 100,000 that a superior variety will be found."

"There was a time, almost a century ago, when amateurs were encouraged to plant potato seeds in the hope of discovering good varieties, but this work is now in the hands of professional plant breeders employed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and by some State Experiment Stations. These professionals make hand pollinations and grow seedlings by the hundreds of thousands. The new varieties of this century have all been developed by professionals. Not since 1895 has a superior variety of potato been discovered and introduced by an amateur planting potato seeds in his garden."

Income of Ohioans Up $127 Each Last Year on Average

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25—(AP)—Everybody's income in Ohio last year averaged $127 over the year before, for an all time high.

The total income payments received by Ohioans in 1947 were $11,061,000,000, compared to $9,851,000,000 in 1946, an increase of 12 percent. They were $8,917,000,000 in 1944.

Per capita income in 1947 was $1,441 against $1,314 the previous year.

These figures are disclosed in a new commerce department report.

For the continental United States, the total income payments to individuals rose 11 percent from 1946 to 1947—from $171,000,000,000 to $190,000,000,000.

Per capita income payments for the nation averaged $1,323 in 1947, nine percent above the 1946 average of $1,213.

Four Trustees Escape Mansfield Reformatory

SANDUSKY, Aug. 25—(AP)—Escape of four trustees from the Mansfield Reformatory's honor camp near Sandusky was disclosed yesterday. Escapees were Fred Ratcliff, 17, sentenced from Montgomery County for breaking and entering; Thomas K. Brooks, 21, convicted in Summit County on two counts of manslaughter; Jeffers Martin, 20, Belmont County, automobile theft, and Dominic Pallante, 19, Mahoning County, auto theft.

Mercury Hits Summer Peak With Little Relief in Sight

Tuesday, with an official reading of 96 degrees, was the hottest day of the season to date, and Wednesday the mercury again was climbing skyward with another registration in the nineties looming.

Tuesday's heat beat by one degree the previous peak temperature of the season, on July 4, when 95 was the reading.

Not only was there a superabundance of heat Tuesday, but considerable humidity added to the general discomfort.

Monday's temperature was 93 and that of Sunday was 90.

The lowest recording for Tuesday was 60 degrees, and the lowest during Tuesday night was 63 degrees. At 8 A. M. Wednesday the reading was 73 degrees.

A year ago 91 and 68 were the top and bottom figures for the day. While the hot weather is good for maturing the corn crop, much of the corn is now in need of rain.

Weather forecasts indicate the hot weather may continue for several days.

MIDWEST SCORCHED

CHICAGO, Aug. 25—(AP)—The late August heat wave kept scorching most of the nation today.

The Midwest felt the full effects of the blistering weather for the third straight day yesterday and federal forecasters said not much relief was expected until the weekend. Higher temperatures were forecast for most of the Atlantic seaboard today.

Temperatures dropped today in Montana and northwestern Canada but forecasters said conditions appeared unfavorable for the cool air to move southward. Some cooler weather was reported in North Dakota.

Yesterday's temperatures ranged from the middle 90's to over 100 from the southern Rockies to the Canadian border and northern Minnesota eastward through the Great Lakes region as far as western Pennsylvania. Highest marks in the hot belt were 104 at La Crosse, Wis., and Phillipsburg, Kans.; 101 at Marquette, Mich., and 100 at Milwaukee and Green Bay, Wis.

This means an automatic, three-cents-an-hour pay hike for some 265,000 General Motors employees. But for them and other wage earners the price picture painted by two federal agencies also means that:

1. It took $21.68 in June to buy the same food items that cost $10 back in 1935-39.

2. For a family of three that amounted to a $705 yearly "market baskets" outlay as compared to the $695 rate in January and the world War I peak of $615 in June, 1920.

3. The price chart of all the things that make up the daily budget hit a new top of 173.7 on July 15. This is the consumers' price index figured by the Bureau of Labor Statistics on a 1935-39 base of 100. It now stands 9.7 percent higher than a year ago, 30.3 percent above June, 1946, when most OPA controls were abandoned, and 76.2 higher than pre-war August, 1939.

Here is the way the BLS charted the average price rise between June 15 and July 14 for moderate-income families in large cities:

Goods and services—up 1.2 percent. (It rose 1.5 percent between May 15 and June 15).

Retail food prices—up 1.3 percent.

This marks a 12.3 percent rise over a year ago, 48.9 percent above June, 1946 and 131.9 percent above August, 1939.

Fuel, electricity and ice—up 1.7 percent, due chiefly to the recent coal contracts.

Clothing—up 0.1 percent after declining in the May-June period.

House furnishings—up 0.6 percent.

Rents—up 0.3 percent as negotiated increases under the new rent law continued to be made.

Miscellaneous goods and services—up 2.2 percent.

The BLS reported that the main increases in retail foods were for meats, poultry, fish, dairy products and eggs. Fresh fruits and vegeta-

Cost of Living Soars to New Record

WAY TO BEAT HCL
CLEVELAND, Aug. 25—(AP)—A $97,858 estate left here showed today there still is one way to beat high food prices—by living on coffee and doughnuts.

The estate was left by M. H. Solloway, an 80-year-old, shabbily dressed attorney who lived largely on the traditional breakfast bill-of-fare and readily told stories for free coffee in a Prospect Avenue diner.

Deputy County Auditor Willis J. Zangerle said inheritance tax papers showed Solloway had $97,334 in bank and savings institution deposits, with the remaining $524 cash found in his room.

$710 Given Fair
For Race Programs

With seven of the 13 members of the Fair Board present, a check for $710.00 was handed to Frank E. Ellis, the board secretary, by Ray Warner, treasurer of the Lions Club, as the board's share of the receipts from the sale of the race programs at the Fair here last month.

The presentation of the check, which represented half of the proceeds from the program, was made at the regular Tuesday evening supper meeting of the Lions at the Country Club.

Fair Board guests were Ray Brandenburg, president, George A. Steen, Harry Silcott, Harold Craig, H. H. Denton and Ellis. Denton and Ellis also are Lions. They were introduced by John Sagar. Other members of the board were unable to accept the invitation to the meeting.

The Lions club attendance for the meeting was 80 percent.

Two new Lions were introduced—Ambrose Elliott sponsored Kenneth Kelly and Eddie Kirk sponsored Willard Parrett.

Don Gibson presided over the meeting as the club president.

Clarence Hackett opened up for discussion the question of the club forming an all-Lion bowling league for the coming winter's sport.

Howard Foster, chairman of the program committee for the next meeting, said it would be a "stage party" at the Emerson Marting farm.

During a discussion of a trip to Cleveland Sept. 26 when the WHS band is to perform at the halftime of the Browns-Chicago Rockets pro football game, the club reached a tentative decision to go on the excursion from here—if present arrangements for it by the YBM are successful.

Six Men Indicted For Theft of Meat

COLUMBUS, Aug. 25—(AP)—Six men were indicted on grand larceny charges by the Franklin County Grand Jury yesterday in Lancaster's "hot meat" case.

The charges involved a series of several hundred dollars' worth of meat from Swift & Company's plant. Franklin County authorities said the meat had been peddled to restaurants in Lancaster and Fairfield County.

Named in two indictments were: Herrell Jeffreys, 26, of Columbus, 12 counts; Joseph Burke, 30, of Lancaster, 10 counts; David Halderman, 46, of Lancaster, three counts; Harry Jennings, 43, of Columbus, one count; Theodore Cooper, 24, of Columbus, one count, and Paul Thacker, 25, of suburban Obetz, one count.

Charges of receiving and concealing stolen property against Burke and Halderman were charged to grand larceny. Prosecutor Ralph J. Bartlett said. He said they had admitted driving to the plant and carting away loads of meat which Jeffrey's plant watchman was alleged to have tossed over the fence to them.

Greene-Cox Ditch Petition Granted

The petition of Jesse Hagler for increasing the tile capacity on the Greene-Cox County ditch with granted by Fayette County commissioners after they viewed the ditch Tuesday morning and held an hour-long hearing on the improvement.

Following the hearing and granting of the petition, County Engineer Robert E. Willis was directed to prepare plans to make the improvement. The completed plans for the improvement were to be in the hands of the county commissioners in six months.

Fifteen property owners will be affected by the increased tile capacity asked in the Hagler petition.

At the same time Glass realized if he attempted to pass the parked car on the left, he would meet an approaching auto, head-on, so he swung his truck to the right to take the shallow ditch at that point.

However his truck struck the rear of the parked car and threw it across the highway.

An instant later the approaching car, driven by Vincent Dolivo, 20, of Franklin, who was accompanied by Vernon Lynch, of Franklin, crashed head-on into the Chevrolet while traveling at an estimated speed of 55 miles per hour.

The beer truck, thrown out of control, swung around and finally overturned in the highway, blocking the road completely for many hours, so that traffic was detoured around the wreckage by using the Herb Drive in approaches.

Call was made for ambulances and officers, and they were soon on the scene.

The Gerstner ambulance removed Mary Ann Baker and Dennis Daalton to Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus, and took Betty Blue to her home in Jeffersonville.

The Baker girl had a compound fracture of her right arm between the elbow and shoulder, as well as many cuts and bruises.

Dalton sustained serious back injuries and cuts and bruises. All possible internal injuries.

The Cox and Parrett ambulance removed Vernon Lynch and Vincent Dolivo to Mt. Carmel Hospital.

Lynch sustained a fractured right ankle and many cuts and bruises. Dolivo suffered serious neck injuries as well as cuts and bruises. His condition was regarded as serious.

The driver of the truck, who was accompanied by Gerald C. Wheeler, 16, of Plain City, escaped with a bad shaking up, and Wheeler also was practically uninjured.

Sheriff Hays said that charges will be filed against the driver of the car which was parked without light.

The injured were treated by Dr. Marvin Rossmann before being taken to the hospital and their homes.

Ohio to Return

The task of closing the American consulate at Vladivostok apparently fell today to Scott Lyon of Columbus, O., who has been on the job in that far off city only two days.

Lyon is newly married and his wife arrived at Vladivostok with him, the U. S. embassy here said today.

The Vladivostok consulate is known here as "the end of the line," despite the fact that it occupies a building with plenty of office space and living quarters. Normally, tours of duty for consular officers there are only six months.

IN THE COURT OF COMMON PLEAS, FAYETTE COUNTY, OHIO. No. 20633. Marnie Beaudoin, Plaintiff, vs. Paul Ernest Beaudoin, Defendant.

Paul Ernest Beaudoin, defendant, whose place of residence is Portland, Road, Sacco, Maine, will take notice that Marnie Beaudoin, plaintiff, on the 4th day of August, 1948, filed her certain petition against him in the above court.

The prayer of said petition is for a divorce from said Paul Ernest Beaudoin, custody of the minor child of the parties and equitable relief and said defendant is required to answer the petition on or before the 20th day of September, 1948, or the same will be taken as true against him.

The Nation Today

By MAX HALL
WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 —(AP)—The truck swerved against the line of oncoming automobiles. It battered five of them with a series of frightful crashes and overturned on top of a sixth, spilling its load of lumber on the highway. A seventh car screeched into the wreckage.

It happened yesterday near Baltimore. Three people were killed; twelve were injured.

If the groans and screams of those people could have been recorded and broadcast over every radio station in the country, it might have illustrated better than words the seriousness of the highway problem.

This problem is connected with inflation and the housing shortage.

Traffic in America, only three years after the war, has become far heavier than ever before in our history.

The number of motor vehicles has risen to around 40,000,000.

According to government figures, these vehicles traveled the astonishing distance of nearly 18,000,000,000 miles on rural roads in the month of June. That does not include travel in cities and towns.

Traffic this month is even greater. August is probably setting a new record for a single month—nearly 20,000,000,000 miles on rural roads.

Traffic on the highways has more than doubled since the war year 1943.

Careful driving is needed as never before. And so are good roads.

A lot of road-building is going on. But not enough. And one reason is inflation.

State governments, with some help from the federal government, are probably spending more money on roads this year than ever.

But the money doesn't go as far. The public roads administration says the same job of road-building costs twice as much as it did in 1940. That means only half as much road improvement for the same number of dollars.

To build an adequate highway for heavy use—with four lanes, a strip of grass in the middle, and no cross traffic—costs at least $200,000 a mile.

This runs much higher if the land is hilly, or if bridges or tunnels, or if over- or under-passes are needed, or if there are structures in the right-of-way that have to be condemned and torn down.

It is not unusual for one mile—one one mile—of a modern highway to cost $600,000 or $800,000.

There are other highway headaches for states, counties and cities.

Here is one of them: Every city needs divided expressways that will keep cars moving at a reasonable speed, unhindered by cross traffic and red lights. Often the logical way to build them is to wade through low-cost areas, condemn the houses, buy them, put

Heavy Demand For Fox Tickets

Famous Organist to Be Here Nov. 4

Members of the Washington Organ Club are now selling tickets for the organ recital to be given at the High School Auditorium Nov. 4, by Virgil Fox, one of the foremost organists of America, who will be remembered as giving the dedicatory recital on the new organ of the Washington C. H. High School.

Since his appearance here, many requests have come to the Organ Club for return of Fox, and recently arrangements were completed for reappearance of the gifted organist.

Mrs. Althea Case, president of the organ club, has distributed tickets to all club members and a few others, and reports indicate that the demand for tickets has been heavy, with results that many of the members have already sold their quota and asked for more.

Each year the Washington Organ Club brings some organist to the city to promote interest in organ music, and with no idea of making money.

Virgil Fox's studentship in the schools of Princeton, Illinois, culminated with his having the highest grades of his class. At the age of 17 he won the State, District and then, unanimously, the National Federation of Music Clubs National contest in Boston. Previous to this time he made his debut as concert organist at the age of 14 in Cincinnati. This concert was presented to 300 students of the Withrow High School, and were regarded as an unbelievable achievement for a youth of 14.

Fox entered the Peabody Conservatory after studying the works of Bach with Middelshulte, and in the one season he spent there, won all the honors available, gave five complete recitals from memory, and set a record unequalled before or since. His appointment as the head of the organ department of this, the oldest and one of the most renowned conservatories in America, came at the age of 26, making an honor of signal significance. His predecessor and teacher, Louis Robert, had been imported from the Haarlem Cathedral, Holland.

the tenants out, tear the structures down, get the job done.

But there is not only a highway shortage; there is a housing shortage.

Can you throw these people on the sidewalk when there are no vacant houses for them to move into? Very often, you just can't do it.

And the traffic keeps increasing.

Air Force Day Celebration Taking Form

Although National Air Force Day is still more than a month away, the Fayette County squadron of the Air Force Association today was rounding up its plans for a big celebration here.

Headlining the program for the Sept. 18 observance is to be a dance at the new Rollerhaven on the CCC Highway west of Washington C. H.

But, the publicity committee chairman insisted this would not be the only festivity. However, he added, the other phases have not yet been developed to the place where a public announcement can be made.

Rollerhaven, which is to be a roller skating rink, is not yet in use, but committeemen said it would be all polished up in time for the dance.

Sonny Dunham and his band, described as one of the country's "big name" bands and the first of its kind ever to play in Washington C. H., is to be the featured attraction and provide the music for dancing.

Dunham was called "America's foremost trumpet and trombone stylist."

The floor show planned for the dance is to feature the Paxton Brothers who, the publicity chairman said, "will come direct from the Capitol Theater in New York City."

The dance is to start at 10 P. M. and continue until 2 A. M.

D. T. & I. Is Moving Much Pipe for Gas

A great deal of large steel piping for natural gas, is being moved over the D.T.&I. and other railroads, to the Ironton area, for construction of a new natural gas main in that area.

One train on the D.T.&I. hauled 34 car loads of the big pipe, but where it was picked up was not indicated.

The pipe apparently is around 20 inches and is being used for part of a long line being laid in Kentucky, or West Virginia, and Ohio, the reports indicate.

Primitive man used stones as ornaments, munitions, tools, currency, household equipment, and some of his objects of worship.

Tour Aditorial "The Best Is Yet To Come" Second Month . . . No. 6

Here's How The Best

Is Yet To Come

Idea Originated!

Isn't everything hard to figure out these days?

A long time ago, someone said, "There's no business like show business." Brothers and sisters, he wasn't talking, thru' his hat. There isn't.

One night, a year ago, several of us were sitting around a big table at Ciro's, on Sunset Strip in Hollywood. Ken Murray, one of the stage's most able producers and unquestionably one of its greatest comedians, was talking about the phenomenal success of his great two-hour show, "The Blackouts." Marie Wilson (the "numb brain" girl of the movies) was questioning every remark Ken made . . . every thought he expounded . . . merely to add zest and spice to his ideas and arguments.

Ken's able partner, Dave Seigel, a former Cleveland, O. attorney, soaked in every word but had little or nothing to say. Ted Fio Rito, the wonderful band man was there. Shemp Howard, one of the original Ted Healey Stooges kept taking a turn, recounting for the amusement of everyone, things that happened back in the old Keith vaudeville days.

The little informal get-together took on the aspects of a real party as Tommy Dorsey, Sid Grauman, Jack Oakie, and June Harrison pulled up chairs.

Next morning, before-and-after shaving, Yours Truly was summing up and analyzing everything that had been said . . . the opinions . . . ideas . . . beliefs of such a talented, experienced group of showmen and top performers.

Boiled down, it all added up to two principal themes. First, America was positively starved for live-shows, good shows. Second, that good as all of these stars of radio, movies, and stage admitted they were, in the opinion of all of them "The Best Is Yet To Come."

Ken Murray had told us of young comedians who could get more laughs in 10 minutes than he could in a whole show. Marie Wilson had named off a dozen or more, un-heard-of young ladies for whom she predicted stardom. Dorsey told of trombonists who someday would put him and his horn-tootin' to shame. Tommy also reported a youngster heading a fine young name-band who not only plays everything Harry James does on a trumpet, but plays it on two trumpets simultaneously. Said the kid's name was Charlie Fisk.

At breakfast that morning, Yours Truly, was reading the newspaper. In it was a story by J. Edgar Hoover giving parents a verbal thrashing for not providing a more diversified and extensive program of entertainment for the nation's youth—as well as themselves. And alongside this yarn, in the very column was a convention report of an international organization, which pointed out the crying need for community service, for new youth projects, for new ways of raising money to finance such civic improvements. We simply put them all together, tested the entire plan, then put our organization of nearly 300 showmen behind it and that's why "The Best Is Yet To Come" is today America's greatest two-hours of entertainment each month. Here, in Washington Court House the Washington Park Association is the sponsor and the next big show is September 8, 1948. Why don't you mail an order for tickets now, and such complaints as Headaches, Nervousness, Acids, Toxins, Bloating, Lack of Vitality, Energy, Poor Appetite, Underweight, Dizzy Spells.

STOMACH AILMENTS, WEAK KIDNEYS, RHEUMATIC PAINS, ARTHRITIS, NEURITIS

Drugless Health

IF YOU ARE a sufferer of these ailments, try GEO-MINERAL. You may be astonished at the results. You need not guess—you will see facts. GEO-MINERAL comes from the earth—Nature's Laboratory. Contains NO dope, NO alcohol, NO oil. ONLY Nature's minerals, the oldest, most reliable remedy for rheumatism, arthritis, kidney and stomach ailments.

GEO-MINERAL will enrich your blood, help to make you strong, full of pep, life and energy. Lack of minerals in the blood causes anemia, headaches, nervousness. Minerals generate mental brilliancy, give sparkling eyes, red cheeks, fight disease, build up health.

RHEUMATISM, arthritis are dreadful diseases. Acid condition in the blood is often their cause. What could be the remedy? For thousands of years, minerals have been used to relieve the pain and suffering of these ills. People, on the advice of doctors, go to mineral springs to find cure, or relief. The late President Roosevelt used to go to Warm Springs in Georgia. He was helped or would not have gone there twelve times a year.

Amazing Results

YEAR after year, people rush to mineral springs and spas, to drink and bathe in their miraculous waters. We have all heard of the wonderful springs of Lourdes, France, and famous Thronion in ancient Greece where, according to legend Hercules, the god of eternal strength and youth, drank its waters and bathed to be forever young.

GEO-MINERAL contains minerals you get at the world's best springs. Watch your elimination from your bowels a day or two after using it. The waste, black as the color of your shoes, will start to break away, and you will SEE it. Also examine your urine. You may see impurities—poisonous waste—coming out of your kidneys, relieving you. And then realize the priceless value of GEO-MINERAL.

Chances To Offer Helping Hand Right Here

Right under our noses here in Washington C. H., and in some other spots in Fayette County, are some worthwhile work projects for both individual and community betterment. Most of them are not big undertakings and would require very little money and probably little effort when properly handled.

We have been told that a number of organizations in this locality are on the lookout for opportunities to give some constructive help along moderate lines. The people who have expressed such interest are sincere in this desire to do something which will help somebody if they can learn what to do.

There are dozens of cases where some organization or some individual could do a world of good for a family, or some member of a family. By keeping in close touch with the county relief department, the county health department or with the dean of girls at the high school some suggestions can be forthcoming in confidence, which offer the best of opportunity for a kindly act that may mean much to some girl or boy's future, or to some adult who is having a real struggle and is too proud to seek help.

Doubtless several teachers in our city or county schools have learned of someone who needs help, not necessarily financial. Oftentimes a little friendly personal interest will build an individual's morale to a point which will make a good citizen out of some person who is on the way to becoming a serious moral hazard.

Maybe there is a girl in a family who receives little sympathy or attention in her homelife to whom a neat new dress, a beauty parlor treatment, music lessons or a friendly pat on the back and some kindly guidance, would make a big difference in her attitude toward life. Sometimes it is difficult to estimate the extent of a "lift" which some little sympathetic act or show of interest, will bring to a depressed or despondent person, whether a youth or some one older.

Fortunately there are a number of people in this city who are carrying on some work of this kind. They say nothing about it and few people know what they are doing. We are sure, however, that these people must feel better for what they are accomplishing.

To those groups, organizations or individuals who are looking for a chance to do something useful along this line we suggest that they ask the relief or health departments to advise them when they know of such cases needing attention beyond the routine of their departments.

Those who want to give a little aid, not always financial, along this line will find suggestions offered sometimes which will not embarrass either the recipient of such attention or the benefactor.

Necessary Escape

There is too much glib talk about the tendency to "escape reality." Psychologists and psychiatrists like to lay troubles and abnormalities at the door of "escapism." They say the alcoholic drinks because he cannot face issues. The ill-mated wife takes worries out in irascibility toward her children; the weakling compensates himself by bragging; the coward bullies someone weaker than himself; the idle middle-aged woman offsets boredom with bridge. The list is endless.

It might be said that everything is an escape from something else. A concert, a play or a motion picture transports its audience from work-a-day responsibilities to other worlds. Travel brings new vistas against which to measure familiar settings. A novel or detective story frees the mind for the time being. Religion, whether in casual church attendance or in a high form of mystic devotion, takes participants out of their everyday routine, gives them a lift.

Everybody needs to escape now and then, needs change, needs recreation. Escape isn't all bad. It's a matter of proportion. All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy. It's only when there is a tendency to make life all play and no work, all getting and no giving, all fun and no responsibility, that the escape becomes dangerous.

Ladies Ready for Campaign, too

By Sigrid Arne

WASHINGTON — Mrs. Harry Truman is likely to get aboard a campaign train at the last minute because her husband wants her along. If she does, her role will be that of the traditional, middle-class American wife—a quiet faithful helpmate.

No announcement has been made by the White House as to her plans during the campaign. A presidential adviser does say that whether she goes along "is simply a matter between the two of them, and they'll probably decide when the time comes."

Left to her own decision, Mrs. Truman no doubt would like to stay at home. There is little evidence in her life—although her husband has held public office for more than 20 years—that she has taken any real interest in anything outside her home.

Like so many other thousands of American women during the war, she cooked lunches for the U. S. O. and rolled bandages for the Red Cross.

She has made two speeches on the record since she was in the White House. Both were about a paragraph long. Once she introduced Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., at a March-of-Dimes event. Once she christened a hospital plane.

This second speech she read. Mrs. Truman is reliably reported to have wept when events put her husband into the White House. How she feels about a second term is quite unknown.

The address has changed her not at all. She can still turn up in her Independence, Mo., home with no accompanying excitement among her neighbors except the grapevine saying that "Bess is home."

Like so many other women with time on their hands, she has played bridge every Tuesday afternoon for 20 years. She keeps the same old set of Missouri friends here, and calls them up of a morning and gabs in the small town way.

She has made some dry remarks about her role. She has said that the job takes "good health and a sense of humor." She was asked once how she felt about the criticism which naturally descends on the head of a president.

"After 25 years in politics I've learned to accept it—almost."

She appears to be an inseparable part of her husband's life. Hence the feeling in Washington that she'll probably go along on some of the campaigning.

He likes to have her give a speech the once-over before he makes it. The Trumans take their recreation together, and often enough it is a concert heard from the presidential box in Constitution Hall.

He said of her once, and he appeared to be paying her a compliment:

"She looks like a woman ought to look who's been married for 25 years."

She's 63, short and plump. Like most other women who have come up through small town living, she likes orchids. She's economical about clothes, and she can cook and serve a good dinner.

Berlin and Vienna Problems

By George E. Sokolsky

Soviet Russia cannot let the year 1948 pass without some advance in Europe. When Tito sought to make Yugoslavia a second Soviet empire, he challenged one of the basic concepts of the Communist international, namely that the world revolution would inevitably abolish nationalism, racial and religious distinctions, class and cultural differences and that all the world would be one state, a federation of socialist Soviet Republics directed from the Kremlin.

Tito, and to some extent Georgi Dimitrov of Bulgaria, raised a new issue, that of nationalistic Marxism. Their abortive plan for a Marxist Balkan confederation was vetoed by Soviet Russia, but the idea remains, and unless the Russians, by continued military victories, increase the tumult in eastern Europe and even absorb some of the Balkan states into the Russian empire, nationalism will be as potent a force under Communism as under capitalism. This is a defeat not only for Marxism in general but for Soviet Russia in particular.

Berlin represents a phase of this broader problem. The elimination of the western powers from Berlin would represent a public relations victory. Of itself it is not so important and Stalin could even compromise this issue without great loss. Originally an attempt to probe for a soft spot in the western defenses, Berlin did not prove soft enough. The Russians did not pursue it to the bitter end as quickly as they might have. What they did discover in Berlin, probably to their surprise, was a strong anti-Communist sentiment among the German people—so strong that it has become a major problem.

Their concentration, however, is on Vienna. This we cannot defend. After the war, General Mark Clark represented us in Vienna, became expert in the problem, handled the Russians properly—so he was transferred to the presidio in San Francisco. Perhaps he has been banished from active European service because he differed with the smart boys whom we sent over to the last Moscow conference where the United States took another shelling.

At any rate, Soviet Russia, at the Danubian conference, showed clearly that Potsdam agreements notwithstanding, western interference in Danubian affairs will not be welcomed and perhaps even not tolerated. And the capital of the Danubian world is Vienna.

Should this country be forced to abandon Vienna, it will abandon the whole of eastern Europe, the roads to Greece and Turkey and the Middle East, and it will imperil Italy. The Hapsburgs well understood that Vienna was the geographical heart of Europe and the Danube its most important artery. The Ottoman empire realized this fact when it attempted to take Vienna and was stopped at Vienna's gates by the Pole, John Sobieski. France and England, in their varied oppositions to the Holy Roman empire, always recognized the political importance of Vienna, and Bismarck, representing a rising Russia, struck out at Austria, since other Prussia's rise must surely be abortive. It is this course that Soviet Russia is now pursuing.

This development in Europe will not wait for an American election. The fact that the conventions occur in June and July, that the election takes place in November and that the new president and Congress do not take office until January is the schedule of world events not of the war that Soviet Russia now actually waging, by new methods, for the conquest of Europe. Nor will these events wait on the convenience of the American candidates.

Mr. Truman acts as though he were running for commissioner in Missouri. Although he can avail himself of the bipartisan foreign policy of the Republican party and the services of John Foster Dulles and Senator Vandenberg, he does so only to a minimum to avoid criticism. He and Secretary of State Marshall provide only such information as they cannot avoid giving. Either their intelligence is so bad that they do not know what is going on, or they fear to disclose errors of judgement and errors of commission which reflect upon them.

At any rate, the bipartisan arrangement can only function in the country's interest if every fact, every detail is candidly placed on record. In such a critical situation, this is essential and is not being done.

Diet and Health

What Mother Should Eat During Pregnancy

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

THE proper diet is of importance at all times of life but it is never of greater moment than during pregnancy.

Studies of large groups of women have definitely established that there is a close relationship between the character of the mother's diet and the development of the baby.

Poor Diet

For example, it was found that when women are on a poor diet during pregnancy, the number of early or premature births and stillbirths is higher than in women who receive a good diet. Furthermore, women who receive a good diet have healthy babies and suffer fewer complications during pregnancy and childbirth. The ability of the mother to nurse her baby also is affected by the quality of her diet during pregnancy.

Animal experiments have been carried out to show that failure to provide all of the necessary food parts during pregnancy may result in abnormal development of the tissues of the offspring, resulting in what is known as congenital malformation, that is, malformation present at the time of birth.

However, thus far no one has been able to prove the relationship between such congenital malformations in human beings and dietary deficiencies in the mother during pregnancy.

Nevertheless, because there is such good evidence that proper diet during pregnancy lessens the likelihood of complications and contributes to safer delivery of the baby and better health of the infant, it is important that everything possible be done to insure proper diet during pregnancy.

The following are the requirements for such a diet during pregnancy: It should consist of 2500 calories or heat units, with 85 grams (about 3 ounces) of protein obtained from such foods as meat, milk and eggs. There should be 1 1/2 grams of calcium coming from such foods as milk and cheese. There should be 15 milligrams of iron, which should be obtained from such iron-rich foods as whole-grain cereals, meat, and liver. It should supply 6000 units of nicotinic acid which is a part of vitamin B, 1.8 of vitamin B and 2 1/2 of vitamin B-2, and 18 milligrams of nicotinic acid which is a part of the vitamin B-complex. There should also be from 400 to 800 units of vitamin D.

In so far as vitamins are concerned, with the exception of vitamin D, they can, as a rule, be obtained from the usual foods included in the diet. For example, orange and tomato juice supply vitamin C. Vitamin B is obtained from whole-grain cereals and meats. However, if there is any question of a vitamin deficiency, preparations of vitamins may be prescribed by the physician.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

J. J.: My husband is having pain in his right leg, particularly when he bends it. The pain seems to be in the knee. What would you recommend he do?

Answer: Pain in the knee may be due to arthritis or inflammation of the knee joint. It may be due to some disturbance of the muscles or tissues around the joint, or to cartilage trouble within the joint itself. A thorough study by an orthopedic specialist is advisable.

UN Expenses Set At $33,469,587

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Secretary-General Trygve Lie asked today for $33,469,587 to operate the United Nations in 1949.

The figure is about a million dollars under the 1948 budget and generally compares with the annual expenditures of states such as Arizona, Idaho, Rhode Island and Vermont.

Lie's figures go before the 58-nation general assembly in Paris next month for approval. Despite the slash, moves already are under way in the U. N. to cut the total still more. The first of these came in a report from the assembly's advisory budgetary committee which believe a million and a half can be lopped off."

See how Electric Service can help you make more money... easier! Attend every Fair you can

YOU will find it well worth your time to attend your county and state agricultural fairs. There you will see all the newest aids to more profitable farming, more comfortable living—electrically. All the new electrical work-saving household appliances and farm equipment now available to help you are worth investigating thoroughly.

Modern electric lighting makes work easier and safer, indoors and out. Protects eyesight, reduces fire hazards, guards poultry and livestock against prowling thieves. An electric water system saves hours of work, miles of steps—and actually increases production and profit.

An electrified dairy means bigger milk checks, lower costs; helps you handle larger herds with less help. See the newest milking machines, automatic watering cups, milk coolers and separators. An electrified poultry house—with brooders, ventilating fans, modern lighting—means healthier birds, better egg production.

Let electricity do these chores for you—quickly, safely, and economically: hoist, mow-cure and bale hay; clean grain; husk, shell or shred corn; cure corn and small grains; cool, candle and grade eggs; shear, clip and groom livestock; spray fruit; work in your farm repair shop.

For helpful information about the many uses of electric service to lift the heaviest burdens and make country living easier for the whole family, consult your County Agriculture Agent or the Farm Representative of The Dayton Power and Light Company serving your neighborhood.

Records Show Home Accidents Most Numerous

Four Percent Boost In Number So Far This Year

Although figures for Fayette County's accident rate so far this year are not available, it is believed to be near the state's four percent increase over the number occurring in 1947.

In connection with the information regarding the number of accidents, J. C. Hiestand, president of the Ohio State Safety Council, stated that home accidents were most numerous, making up 39% of the total. Motor vehicle mishaps are second with 32%; public accidents, where the motor vehicle was not involved, with 16% and occupational mishaps 8% followed in order.

Increases are shown in each classification except public accidents which have declined about 2%. Almost one fourth of the fatalities were the result of falls, the greater portion of these occurring in the homes. Collision of motor vehicle with pedestrian is next, with about half as many as falls.

Non collision traffic accidents, such as overturn and run off the road, were third, the result of a continual increase in this type of mishap. In consequence, collision between motor vehicles drops to fourth place. Deaths from collision with pedestrian have been reduced 10% from 1947 figures, being the only reduction in the first four classes.

The 25 to 44 age group shows a small drop in deaths, while increases of 3 to 10% are shown by other age groups.

The increase in fatalities has been in evidence for 3½ years, making the fourthcoming Tenth Annual Ohio State Safety Conference extremely important to the people of the state. The conference will be held at Hotels Statler and Carter in Cleveland, September 21, 22, and 23.

There will be 59 sections dealing with virtually every phase of accident prevention and safety promotion. Over 200 speakers, all experts in some element of the subject, are scheduled to present ideas which have proven effective in their experience. The attendance of about 3,000 people is expected, including public officials, police chiefs, school executives, civic leaders, and industrialists. City Manager W. W. Hill may attend to represent Washington C. H.

Judge Lee E. Skeel, president of the greater Cleveland safety council will be general chairman of the conference.

Two Suspects Held In Kidnap-Robbery

CINCINNATI, Aug. 25—(AP)—Detective Lt. Jacob Schott went to Columbus today to view a suspect in the $7,000 robbery-kidnaping here last Friday of Robert Schuster, 25-year-old cafe operator.

The suspect was picked up yesterday by Columbus police at the request of local officers. Schuster accompanied Schott to the capital city.

The cafe man's automobile was forced to the curb by a car containing three gunmen. Two of the bandits forced their way into Schuster's car, robbed him and then drove to another section of the city where they pushed him and two companions from the vehicle.

The meet is part of the Air Force Day open house celebration at the base, scheduled for Sunday.

Appropriate prizes for first, second and third places in the various model plane events will be offered. Events scheduled are as follows:

Class A speed: engines .000 to .200 lines 42 feet.

Class B speed: engines .201 to .300 lines 52½ feet.

Class C speed: engines .301 to .500 lines 60 feet.

Class D speed: engines .501 to .650 lines 70 feet.

Beauty contest: Most beautiful models. Models will be flown at least three laps before judging.

Stunt contest: Will be judged on point system. Points will be based on skill required to execute each maneuver.

All contests will be flown under AMA rules, and all contestants must register at the judges stand between 10 A. M. and noon on Saturday. Flights will start promptly at 12 noon and each contestant will be given a chance to complete two flights. Best time will be recorded. Contestants will be allowed three minutes to start engine and commence flight and for speed trials, three laps will be made before timing starts. Sufficient rings will be in operation to assure efficient handling and avoid waiting for trials.

A spokesman at the base said: "It is hoped that all model plane enthusiasts in the area will bring their planes to the All-Weather Flying Center to enter competition. Planes flown by the center will be on display and in flight, and it is believed many persons will be interested in seeing the base planes as well."

Contestants will be allowed one helper who will be allowed within the contest rings.

Pioneer Kitchen On Fairground

Visitors to the Ohio State Fair August 28—September 3, will see a real pioneer kitchen installed in the Arts and Crafts building by the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society.

The fireplace with cooking utensils, early lighting devices, rifle over the mantle, corner cupboard with china, table with wooden bowls, canisters and mortars, and many other objects make an impressive contrast to the conveniences of today. Copies of pioneer recipes will be given to those interested.

The Society also has an exhibition in the Ohio building showing pioneer tools and implements which includes a handmade wood-sweep and mortar mill, corn sheller, cherry seeder, sausage gun, broad axe, free and mallet for making shingles, waffle iron, flax wheel, salt boiling kettle and other objects almost unknown to the young people of today.

New York Heiress To Enter Convent

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 25—(AP)—Constance Murray, whose grandfather left his family $50,000,000, will go into a Roman Catholic convent next month.

The 19-year-old, pretty blonde debutante's decision to become a nun was revealed by her widowed mother, Mrs. John F. Murray, last night after the girl returned by plane from a tour of Europe.

Mrs. Murray said her daughter will enter the convent of the Holy Child at Sharon Hill, Pa., Sept. 15—three days after she acts as a

Enrollment Records Faced by Schools

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25—(AP)—School and college enrollment will soar to a new record of nearly 32,000,000 this fall, despite another drop in the number of veterans on the campus.

The office of education, reporting this today, said grammar schools will enroll 22,797,000 students, high schools 6,270,000 and colleges 2,500,000.

Young Man Is Killed In Roller-coaster Fall

YOUNGSTOWN, Aug. 25—(AP)—A pleasure ride on a roller coaster ended in sudden death at 10:30 P. M. yesterday for a 20-year-old youth from nearby Salem when he fell from his seat on the speeding "Wildcat" at a 40-foot peak at Idora Park.

Royal Godfrey Dinkelman of 1090 E. Ninth St., Salem, Seaman Second Class in the U. S. Naval Reserve, apparently died instantly as he was thrown against the superstructure of the coaster.

Marriage Is Announced At Lawn Party

The marriage of Miss Margaret Knedler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ircel Knedler, of the Greenfield and Sabina Road, to Mr. Kenneth Rowland, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Rowland, of Greenfield, was announced when the bride's mother entertained about fifty guests at a lawn party at her home Tuesday afternoon.

The marriage, which was a complete surprise to the guests, was an event of Thursday, August 17, and took place in Maysville, Kentucky, in the Trinity Methodist Church as the hands of the clock approached four, with Rev. A. R. Perkins, officiating at the double ring ceremony.

The couple was unattended and the bride chose for the occasion a blue gabardine suit with navy blue accessories.

A lively contest of jumbled words, which when unscrambled announced the event, and the winner in this contest was Mrs. Nathaniel Tway, who also won another clever contest provided as entertainment.

The serving of a dainty refreshment course was followed with informal visiting and the extending of congratulations to the happy bride, brought the pleasant event to a close.

Mrs. Knedler was assisted in the gracious hospitalities by her daughter, Barbara Lee, Mrs. Albert Haines and Miss Betty Smith.

The new Mrs. Rowland is a graduate of Fairfield High School, Leesburg, in the class of '45, and is a senior at Wilmington College where she is a member of the Alpha Phi Kappa sorority. She has been a teacher in the Jeffersonville Elementary School for the past two years where she will resume her position at the beginning of the fall term.

Vocal Recital To Be Given At Baptist Church Friday

A voice recital by the pupils of Mrs. Betty Peterson Hemmert will be presented in the First Baptist Church Friday night at 8:15 P. M. Mrs. Hemmert, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Peterson, will bring a group of her pupils to Washington C. H. from Piqua, where she now lives.

The recital will feature the Skylarks, a group of six girls, which has become very popular at Piqua and has appeared on several radio shows. All of the girls have been under Mrs. Hemmert's training for the past three years. The Skylarks specialize in light classics and popular music, but their repertoire also includes compositions of a more serious nature.

Other soloists appearing on the program will be Dolores Murphy, soprano; Be. Downey, mezzo-soprano; and Ruthe DuBois, contralto. The Skylarks are Jeanine Halterman, Anne Gabel, Sue Ann Munn, Sally Heitzman, Beth Downey and Dolores Murphy. Ruthe DuBois is the accompanist and Nancy Day plays the string bass.

Mrs. Hemmert, who was vocal supervisor in the Piqua schools prior to her marriage last summer, was graduated from Washington C. H. High School in 1941. While in school here she studied piano from Lorie King Ewing and after entering the Ohio State University's School of Music, continued her piano studies under Miss Lela Hardy. Her voice teacher at the university was Louis H. Dierks, director of the choirs there.

During Mrs. Hemmert's senior year at OSU, she received the Dorothy McVittie Scholarship in music and appeared with the college symphony when she played

Bride Elect Is Honored At Shower

Mrs. Roy Garrison, her daughter, Mrs. Roger Acton and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ralph Garrison combined hospitalities at the home of Mrs. Roy Garrison when they entertained with a miscellaneous shower complimenting Miss Willa Jane Sollars who will become the bride of Mr. Lee Allen White on Saturday August 28.

The rooms of the spacious home were beautifully decorated with garden flowers for the occasion and the hostesses provided two clever bridal contests for entertainment of their guests with Miss Clara Rowland and Mrs. Robert Vincent awarded the prizes in these.

The honor guests was given five dollars with which to purchase articles displayed on a table to show her ability in how far the money would reach, with the prizes listed, which caused a period of humorous entertainment.

Later a gypsy maid appeared with a basket on her arm which was filled with a part of the lovely array of gifts presented Miss Sollars for which she made gracious response.

A dainty refreshment course was served at small tables carrying out a pink and white color scheme, with the honor guest, her mother Mrs. Leslie Sollars, her grandmother and aunt, Mrs. Edward Kruger and Miss Lela Kruger, also Mrs. Aaron Rowe and Mrs. A. W. Minnick, both aunts of the groom, all seated at a special table, lace cloth covered, with crystal appointments, centered with a shower of small kitchen utensils tied with a fluffy pink satin bow, which were presented later to the honor guest.

Guests included were Mrs. Leslie Sollars, Mrs. Aaron Rowe, Mrs. Marion Dawson, Mrs. Earl Rea, son Tommy, Mrs. Floyd Rea, Mrs. Dean Britton, Mrs. Fred Freshour, Mrs. Jesse White, Mrs. Earl White, Mrs. John Craig, daughter Vicki, Misses Jo Ann Craig, Judy Acton, Minta and Clara Rowland, Mrs. Locie Eckle, Mrs. Elmer Huchison, Mrs. Charles Barney, Mrs. John Hurt, all of this community, Mrs. Thomas Craig and daughter of Bloomington, Mrs. Will Trovillo of Frankfort, Mrs. A. W. Minnick, Mrs. Harry Vincent, Mrs. Robert Vincent and daughter of Derby.

Miss Sollars Completes Plans For Her Marriage

Miss Willa Jane Sollars, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Glenn Sollars of Rock Mills, has completed plans for her open church wedding on Saturday, August 28, when she will become the bride of Mr. Lee Allen White of the White Road, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Rowe.

The ceremony will be read at seven thirty in the evening in the Grace Methodist Church, here, and will be preceded by a half hour of nuptial music presented by Mr. Hal Summers vocalist, with Miss Marian Christopher at the organ.

Miss Sollars has chosen her sister, Miss Ivanelle Sollars as her maid of honor, Miss Virginia Vause of Ft. Custer, Michigan as bridesmaid and Mrs. Hugh Rea of this city as brides matron.

Mr. Robert Rodgers of the Rock Bridge Road will be best man for the groom.

Following the wedding a reception for the families and close friends will be given by the bride's parents, at the Hotel Washington.

Donald E. Rolfe today was looking forward to a career in auctioneering.

A graduate of the Reppert School of Auctioneering in Indiana, Rolfe has come back to his native community to start into his chosen profession.

He was born near Sabina where he started to school. Later he attended the Marion Township School east of Washington C. H. when his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carey Rolfe, moved into Fayette County. He now lives in Pickaway County near Ashville where he runs a 400-acre farm.

Rolfe was one of 194 students at the Reppert School this summer. Actual sales experience at the daily auctions held at the school was part of his training, he said.

Rolfe carried a recommendation from the school which said he was graduated with honors.

Supreme Court Judge Speaks To Rotarians

Chas. B. Zimmerman Talks On "Military Men and Presidency"

An interesting discussion touching upon the lives of men with military records who either have aspired to or refused nomination for the presidency of the United States, featured the program of the Washington Rotary Club at the Country Club Tuesday.

Judge Charles B. Zimmerman

The speaker was Hon. Charles B. Zimmerman of Springfield, well known jurist and a justice of the Supreme Court of Ohio. Local judges and a good representation of members of the Fayette County Bar Association were present at the meeting.

Introduced by Attorney Ed Bush, member of the August Rotary program committee, Judge Zimmerman opened his talk with the statement that the general interest displayed in recent months in this nation concerning the possible political candidacies of Generals Eisenhower and MacArthur for the presidency of the United States recalls the fact that quite a number of other men in days gone by either gained the presidency or sought it by reason of the records they had made in military service.

Turning toward the early history of this country Judge Zimmerman said that "one of the principal reasons for the choice of General George Washington as president was the abilities he displayed in his leadership of the colonial forces during the American Revolution. The next outstanding person who gained the presidency by reason of his military successes was General Andrew Jackson, who at one time held the rank of brigadier general in the regular army. The people of America never forgot his smashing victory at the Battle of New Orleans, and when the time was ripe, General Jackson's success at that battle brought him to the presidency."

Continuing his talk on such prominent figures of the past the speaker said "although General William Henry Harrison, a Virginian by birth but who settled in that part of the northwest territory which is now Ohio, was not a regular army man, much of his early life was devoted to waging war and his great victory over the Indian tribes at the Battle of Tippecanoe in 1811 and later his success over the British and Indians at the Battle of the Thames, in which engagement the great Indian chieftan, Tecumseh, met his death, were real elements in making him the ninth president of the United States."

"The Mexican War of 1847, produced two outstanding American generals, both regular army men—Winfield Scott and Zachary Taylor. Both became candidates of the Whig party for the presidency. Taylor was elected in 1848, but Scott was defeated by Franklin Pierce in the campaign in 1852.

Lincoln Also A Soldier

"We do not think of Abraham Lincoln as a military man and his military achievements played but a small part in his selection for the presidency; however, the fact remains that in 1832 when Black Hawk and his Indians went on the war path, Lincoln was elected captain of a military company and took part in subduing the Indian chieftan."

"Next came the period of the Civil War and it developed a number of generals and commissioned officers who either became presidents of the United States at least, partially because of their military records, or attempted to do so. Among these we remember the names of General George B. McClellan, General Ulysses S. Grant, General Rutherford B. Hayes, General James A. Garfield and General Winfield Scott Hancock."

"In 1884, when James G. Blaine, became the Republican nominee for the presidency, a great deal of pressure was brought on General William Tecumseh Sherman to accept the nomination. Sherman was adamant and finally spoke the historic words, 'I will not accept if nominated and will not serve if elected.' The position taken by Sherman and that assumed recently by General Eisenhower, are very similar."

"President William McKinley is not ordinarily thought of as a soldier, but he participated actively in the Civil War and was breveted a major."

"Too, the late William Jennings Bryan, the great commoner and a strong advocate of peace, possessed a military record. He was colonel of a Nebraska regiment in the Spanish-American War, but saw no active service."

"Just after the Spanish-American War, Theodore Roosevelt was acclaimed as the hero of San Juan Hill, and this exploit did much to bring him to the fore as a successful aspirant to public office."

"In 1920 General Leonard Wood, an officer in the regular army and holder of the Congressional Medal of Honor, made a strong bid for the Republican presidential nomination. In the convention in which President Harding was chosen, General Wood at one time received 315 votes."

How Dewey Lost Out

"Had President McKinley not been assassinated and Theodore Roosevelt not come to the presidency in that way, it was the intention of many friends and admirers of Admiral George W. Dewey, hero of the Battle of Manila Bay, to urge his availability as a presidential nominee."

"And so we see that all through the history of our country, men who distinguished themselves as military commanders, either became presidents or tried to become such."

Judge Zimmerman concluded his remarks with the declaration that "while military service alone does not qualify one for the presidency of the United States, many of our presidents who were elected because of such service demonstrated that they also possessed qualities of leadership and statesmanship, which made them great and successful as leaders of their nation."

Judge Harry M. Rankin, asked to make a response to Judge Zimmerman's talk, aptly referred to the interest aroused in the speaker's discussion and thanked him cordially for his appearance here."

Vice President Paul Pennington, in charge of this meeting in the absence of President John Abernethy, announced that the next Rotary meeting on Tuesday, Aug. 31, would be addressed by Atty. Philip C. Ebeling, president of the Ohio Bar Association and a public speaker of prominence."

One of the guests at this session was Rotarian George Schmidt of Wadena, Minn., formerly a prominent member of the club here when he was head of the Cudahy Packing Company plant in this city. He is here for a short visit accompanied by Mrs. Schmidt and their son James. He is still identified with the Cudahy Company in his home city."

Farmers Watch Big Slump in Corn Market

No Old Corn Moving To Market After 33 Cent Drop

Farmers are looking with deep concern upon the rapid drop in corn prices during the past week, when corn here, following the rapid decline in the Chicago and other markets, tumbled 33 cents a bushel from $1.88 to $1.55. It apparently was pegged temporarily there for it remained at that point both Monday and Tuesday.

The drop in the market, started about August 17, and dropped fast on succeeding days until by August 21 it stood at $1.56 and then slipped down another cent Monday.

As result of the big skid in corn prices, many farmers are now anticipating a sharp drop in the price of hogs, although others point to the law of supply and demand as regulating, more or less, the prices paid for pork on the hoof."

Jerry Hapner, feed and grain manager of the Fayette County Cooperative Association, cites to three reasons for the big drop in corn prices."

First, he stated, is the outlook for a new corn crop of tremendous proportions. Second, much old corn was being unloaded on the market in many centers, with a large number caught holding for September delivery, and rushing to market when the decline started."

The third reason is the first new corn will reach the market by the middle of September, or several weeks in advance of the new corn marketed in recent years."

Hapner stated that while there was little corn moving here or little that was going to be consigned to the late summer market here, that some of those who have corn to sell and got caught in the decline, are holding their corn now in the hope of an advance in price after bottom is touched."

Championships Won By Hog Breeders

J. A. Purcell & Son and J. B. Wain, two of the community's purebred hog breeders, today were getting their prize stock ready for the next show—the big Ohio State Fair.

Both came away from last week's Ross County Fair with more than their share of championships and ribbons.

The Purcells won the grand championship sow award, two first place ribbons, five seconds, one third and a fourth with their Poland Chinas.

Wain came back from Chillicothe with awards for two grand champions and a reserve champion in the Chester White division. He also had ribbons for six firsts, one second, two thirds and a fourth.

Glass Prices Raised

TOLEDO, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Increases in the prices of most of its products was announced last night by the Owens-Illinois Glass Co. The increases averaged between 10 and 15 percent. Higher wages and increased costs of raw materials were cited by the firm.

Television Hookup Set for Sept. 20

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—(AP)—The National Broadcasting Company's midwest television network, comprising five stations, will start regular program operations Sept. 20. I. E. Showerman, NBC vice president, announced last night.

Original members of the network will be stations KSD-TV (St. Louis); WWJ-TV (Detroit); WTMJ-TV (Milwaukee); WSPD-TV (Toledo); and WBEN-TV (Buffalo, N. Y.). NBC and station officials mapped plans for the network operations at a meeting yesterday.

Metropolitan Opera Season Made Possible

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(AP)—There will be a 1948-49 Metropolitan Opera season after all.

Officers of the Metropolitan Opera Association announced the new decision after the employees unions shelved demands for wage increases and other benefits.

The plan to carry on—announced late yesterday—reverses an announcement of three weeks ago cancelling the season.

Boston Teams in Lead In Both Leagues Now

By JOE REICHLER
(By the Associated Press)

Vern (Little Slug) Stephens, pounding his way through his greatest year in the big time, is making a serious bid for the coveted most valuable player award as he strives to spark the Boston Red Sox to an American League pennant.

The timely hitting shortstop sent the Sox back into first place last night when he poled a dramatic ninth inning home run with one mate aboard to give Boston a thrilling 9-8 victory over the Cleveland Indians. The triumph pushed the Sox half a game in

Drake Team Ousted from Sabina Meet

Drake's Produce softball team—which won the second round of the Recreation League here Monday night—were eliminated from the Sabina Invitational Tournament Tuesday night by the Sabina Merchants who defeated them by a score of 12-1.

Drake was on the mound for the produce crew. The Sabina boys were credited with one earned run and 11 unearned runs.

Only one RL team now remains in the Sabina tourney. The Universal Auto Co. team, which won the first round here and lost the second to Drake's Monday night, has reached the semi-finals and will be fighting for a place in the finals when it plays the A & A Grill of Dayton Wednesday at 9 P. M.

The other finalist will be decided Grill of Dayton Wednesday at 9 Thursday at 9 P. M., when the Sabina Merchants play Chillicothe.

The championship game will be played Friday at 9 P. M.

40 Boys Out For Football At Circleville

About 40 boys turned out at Circleville this week as football practice got under way and Coaches Steve Brudzinski and Tommy Bennett predicted they'd see another 20 boys on the field before the end of this week.

Nearly ten of those absent were last year's starters but summer employment commitments are keeping them away, the coaches said.

The Tigers will field one of the lightest teams in South Central Ohio League competition this year, it was reported. Calisthenics and roadwork conditioners are the major projects this week with "slow motion" plays, basic blocking sessions and passing and punting practices also being scheduled.

The Tigers will come to Washington C. H. to meet the Blue Lions Friday, November 12—next to the last game of the season.

California Woman Holds Trap Crown

By FRITZ HOWELL
VANDALIA, Aug. 25—(AP)—The little fellows get their chance today at the 49th Grand American Trapshoot.

It's class day, in which the shooters fire only against those in their own average bracket, and the competition is just as tough down among the novices as it is up among the talent.

The program calls for 200 targets at 16 yards, with an entry fee of $15, optional wagering of an additional $35 per man, plus the cost of eight boxes of shotgun shells which makes it a fairly expensive day.

In addition to the class championships, the state team race—a five-man affair—will be decided on the 200-target race, with the winning quintet taking down $150 and the second placers $100.

Yesterday's heavy firing by a field of 775 shooters found Mrs. Lela Hall Frank of Sierra Madre, Calif., retaining her North American clay target championship in one of the most rousing shootoffs in the history of the roaring grand.

John A. Broughton, a 26-year-old molder from Ferguson, Mo., won the men's division of the 200-target marathon by breaking the entire set, while Cliff Doughman of Morrow, O., last year's amateur victor, grabbed the professional laurels with 199 after losing his final target.

Richards' Filly Outstanding; Goes 2:10:1 Mile at Athens

Miss Navy Blue, a two-year-old filly bred by Tilden Richards on his farm on the Plymouth Pike and trained at the Fairground here, has become one of the surprise sensations of the season in this section.

Back at headquarters here today resting up after three successive triumphs, she is the talk of horsemen following Tuesday's outstanding performance at the Athens County Fair. She had won at Chillicothe and Piketon before being sent to Athens.

After going the first mile of the open class pace for two-year-olds, she came back in the second heat with a mile of 2:10 1-5. Frank Lanum, who had a hand in her training and was at the reins at Athens, said the filly could easily have gone the mile in 2:09. As it was, she won by a good 10 lengths under a snug hold.

Miss Navy Blue is by Bert Abbe and out of Tilden's old campaign-

When You Sell Your Crops . . .

You do more than sell bushels of grain, tons of hay, or bales of cotton. You are actually selling out of your farm land the fertility that it took to grow them.

Calcium and magnesium (lime) are two of the important plant-food elements that all crops feed on. Some are heavier feeders than others. Alfalfa requires a lot—the equivalent of 100 pounds of limestone in each ton of hay—so do clover and the other legumes.

Keep your farm productive and profitable by replacing what you take out of your soil.

We shall be pleased to supply the limestone for your entire farm or any part of it. Let us quote you.

Bigger Engines Are To Power New Model Cars

Few Other Changes Expected—Backlog Of Orders Remains

BY DAVID J. WILKIE
DETROIT. —(P)—A lot of new power plants will be introduced with the 1949 model automobiles due late this year and early in January.

Most of them will be of higher horsepower rating and increased compression ratio, but the American motorist still will have to wait for the vastly improved gasoline mileage he has been expecting over the last decade or more.

Offering the best prospect for increased mileage right now is the new Kettering engine, designed by Charles F. Kettering, General Motors engineering consultant. Modifications of it are scheduled to appear in several of the forthcoming 1949 model GM cars, especially Oldsmobile and Cadillac.

More Mileage Looms

In announcing the result of tests with the new engine more than a year ago, Kettering said it would cut the motorist's annual fuel bill by one-third. He had reference to a power plant with a 12.5-to-1 compression ratio. The high quality fuel required for such an engine is not commonly available now and cannot be made so without a huge outlay by the petroleum industry.

Thus, power plants with 8-to-1 compression ratios are more likely for 1949 model cars. It has been demonstrated these engines will perform satisfactorily on presently premium gasolines and yield slightly greater mileage. But the time when the right kind of gasoline will be everywhere available for the 12.5-to-1 ratio engines still is several years away.

Compression ratio is the volume of space devoted to piston travel in relation to the space into which gas is compressed in the cylinder head when the piston is at the top of its compression stroke.

But there is a lot more to increasing the compression ratio than cutting down the size of the combustion chamber. The entire engine block must be constructed to withstand the stress that increases rapidly as the compression ratio rises.

Few Other Changes

Aside from the improved engines, mechanical changes probably will not be many. Some brake mechanisms are being redesigned to give quicker and easier action as well as longer life.

There will not be as many new automatic transmissions as seemed probable a few months ago. Like all other sub-assemblies their cost has mounted steadily and several car makers are reported to be reluctant to bring them out at this time.

Every auto company has been carrying on experimental work with differing types of automatic transmissions. Most of them could be offered with the 1949 models but for considerations of costs.

In many instances the 1949 models will represent the first completely new cars to be produced by the manufacturers since before the war.

They easily could have put off for another year the changes planned for the forthcoming models. Certainly the time still is distant when the auto makers will need special features as selling arguments for their cars.

Unofficial estimates of the unfilled order backlog still range as high as 6,000,000. This is despite the production since the war of more than 8,000,000 cars.

Of course a lot of duplications are included in the backlog. But even if a third of the orders fall

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR
NOW AT LAST the Superintendent got his effect. David stiffened. Behind him, Rosaleen gave a little frightened gasp.

"What makes you think that one of those names was Captain Robert Underhay, Superintendent?" David asked at last. His eyes were cautious, probing.

"Information received," said the Superintendent stolidly.

There was a short silence. The Superintendent was aware of David's eyes, studying him, sizing him up, striving to know. . . . He himself waited quietly.

"Any idea who Robert Underhay was, Superintendent?" David asked.

"Suppose you tell me, sir."

"Robert Underhay was my sister's first husband. He died in Africa some years ago."

"Quite sure of that, Mr. Hunter?" Spence asked quickly.

"Quite sure. That's so, isn't it, Rosaleen?" He turned to her.

"Oh yes." She spoke quickly and breathlessly. "Robert died of fever—blackwater fever. It was very sad."

"Sometimes stories get about that aren't quite true, Mrs. Cloade."

She said nothing. She was looking, not at him, but at her brother. Then, after a moment, she said:

"Robert's dead."

"From information in my possession," said the Superintendent. "I understand that this man, Enoch Arden, claimed to be a friend of the late Robert Underhay and at the same time informed you, Mr. Hunter, that Robert Underhay was alive."

David shook his head. "Nonsense," he said. "Absolute nonsense."

"You state definitely that the name of Robert Underhay was not mentioned?"

"Oh," David smiled charmingly. "It was mentioned. This poor fellow had known Underhay."

"There was no question of blackmail, Mr. Hunter?"

"Blackmail? I don't understand you, Superintendent."

"Don't you really, Mr. Hunter? By the way, just as a matter of form, where were you last night—between, shall we say, seven and eleven p. m.?"

"Just as a matter of form, Superintendent, suppose I refuse to answer?"

"Aren't you behaving rather childishly, Mr. Hunter?"

"I don't think so. I dislike—I always have disliked, being bullied."

The Superintendent thought that was probably true.

He'd known witnesses of the David Hunter type before. Witnesses who were obstructive for the sake of being obstructive, and not in the least because they had anything to hide. The mere fact of being asked to account for their comings and goings seemed to raise a black pride and sullenness in them. They would make it a point to give the law all the trouble they could.

Superintendent Spence, though he prided himself on being a fair-minded man, had nevertheless come to Shepherd's Court with a very strong conviction that David Hunter was a murderer. Now, for the first time, he was not so sure.

The very puerility of David's defiance awoke doubts in him. Spence looked at Rosaleen Cloade. She responded at once.

"David, why don't you tell him?"

"That's right, Mrs. Cloade. We only want to clear things up—do you hear? What is it to you where I may have been, here, or at Wamsley Vale or in Timbuctoo?"

Spence said warningly: "You'll be subpoenaed for the Inquest, Mr. Hunter, and there you'll have to answer questions."

"I'll wait for the Inquest, then! And now, Superintendent, will you get out of here?"

"Very good, sir." The Superintendent rose, unperturbed. "But I've something to ask Mrs. Cloade first."

"I don't want my sister worried."

"Quite so. But I want her to look at the body and tell me if she can identify it. I'm within my rights there. It'll have to be done sooner or later. Why not let her come down with me now and get it over. The late Mr. Arden was heard by a witness to say that he knew Robert Underhay—ergo he may have known Mrs. Underhay—and therefore Mrs. Underhay may know him. If his name isn't Enoch Arden, we could do with knowing what it really is."

Rather unexpectedly Rosaleen Cloade got up.

"I'll come, of course," she said. Spence expected a fresh outburst from David, but to his surprise the other grinned.

"Good for you, Rosaleen," he said. "I'll confess, I'm curious myself. After all, you may be able to put a name to the fellow."

Spence said to her: "You didn't see him yourself in Wamsley Vale?"

She shook her head. "I've been in London since Saturday last."

"And Arden arrived on Friday night—yes."

Rosaleen asked: "Do you want me to come now?"

She asked the question with something of the submissiveness of a little girl. In spite of himself the Superintendent was favorably impressed. There was a docility, a willingness about her which he had not expected.

"That would be very nice of you, Mrs. Cloade," he said. "The sooner we can get certain facts definitely established the better. I haven't got a police car here, I'm afraid."

David crossed to the telephone. "I'll ring up the Daimler Hire. It's beyond the legal limit—but I expect you can square that, Superintendent."

"I think that can be arranged, Mr. Hunter."

He got up. "I'll be waiting for you downstairs."

He went down in the lift and pushed open the Office door once more.

The Field Marshal was awaiting him.

"Well?"

"Both beds slept in last night, sir. Baths and towels used. Breakfast was served to them in the flat at nine-thirty."

"And you don't know what time

Mr. Hunter came in yesterday evening?"

"I can't tell you anything further, I'm afraid, sir!"

Well, that was that, Spence thought. He wondered if there was anything behind David's refusal to speak except pure childish defiance. He must realize that a charge of murder was hovering over him. Surely he must see that the sooner he told his story the better. Never a good thing to antagonize the police. But antagonizing the police, he thought ruefully, was just what David Hunter would enjoy doing.

They talked very little on the way down. When they arrived at the Mortuary Rosaleen Cloade was very pale. Her hands were shaking. David looked concerned for her. He spoke to her as though she was a small child.

"It'll be only a minute or two, Mavourneen. It's nothing at all, nothing at all now. Don't get worked up. You go in with the Superintendent and I'll wait for you. And there's nothing at all to mind about. Peaceful he'll look and just as though he were asleep."

She gave him a little nod of the head and stretched out her hand. He gave it a little squeeze.

"Be a brave girl now, alanna."

As she followed the Superintendent she said in her soft voice: "You must think I'm a terrible coward, Superintendent. But when they've been all dead in the house—all dead but you—that awful night in London—"

"I'll understand, Mrs. Cloade. I know you went through a bad experience in the Blitz when your husband was killed. Really, it will be only a minute or two."

At a sign from Spence the sheet was turned back. Rosaleen Cloade stood looking down at the man who had called himself Enoch Arden. Spence, unobtrusively standing to one side, was actually watching her closely.

She looked at the dead man curiously and as though wondering—she gave no start, no sign of emotion or recognition, just looked long and wonderingly at him. Then, very quietly, in an almost matter of fact way, she made the sign of the cross.

"God rest his soul," she said. "I've never seen that man in my life. I don't know who he is."

Spence thought to himself: "Either you're one of the finest actresses I've ever known or else you're speaking the truth."

Later, Spence rang up Rowley Cloade.

"I've had the widow down," he said. "She says definitely that he's not Robert Underhay and that she's never seen him before. So that settles that!"

There was a pause. Then Rowley said slowly:

"Does it settle it?"

"I think a jury would believe her—in the absence of evidence to the contrary, of course."

"Yes," said Rowley and rang off.

Then, frowning, he picked up not the local telephone directory, but the London one. His forefinger ran methodically down the letter P. Presently he found what he wanted.

R. Brandenburg Garage Visited By Burglars

No Money Found By Intruders Who Ransack Place

Burglars visited the Brandenburg Garage on Clinton Avenue, at a late hour Tuesday night, thoroughly ransacked the place, jimmied the cash register and broke a key off in the safe, but were forced to leave without one cent of their efforts.

Police discovered the burglary at 4:30 A. M. Wednesday while cruising on Clinton Avenue. They noticed the front door was partly open, and making a check, discovered that burglars had visited the place by forcing a rear window, prying a door open leading to the main office, and had made a thorough search of the offices, apparently for money.

After jimmying the cash register in the main office, the burglars forced their way into a second office, and broke off a key in the lock of the safe, after which they apparently gave up the attempt to obtain money.

A number of drawers also had been pulled out of filing cabinets and contents upset in the search for money.

Apparently the burglars had not been out of the place but a short time when police discovered the burglary, for a wrecker from the garage had been used on the wreck west of the city, and it was around 3 A. M. when the truck was placed in the garage.

The license of an automobile which was seen moving hurriedly out Clinton Avenue was obtained, and the driver halted by State Highway Patrol at Russellville, but the car contained a man, his wife and child, who were driving through here at the time.

Death Takes Son of Former Resident

Howard Tasso Harper, the son of a former resident here was killed in an automobile accident near his home in Indianapolis Wednesday morning.

Mr. Harper was a son of Mrs. Grace Post Harper former Washington C. H. resident, now of Media, Pa.

On hearing of the accident Mrs. Harper and her daughter, Anne, left Media by plane for Indianapolis.

Mr. Harper, a veteran of World War II was a graduate of Lakewood High School and a graduate engineer from Ohio State University. He served with the engineers during the war and worked on the reconstruction of the Philippine Islands. He was assistant road superintendent of the New York Central Railroad with headquarters in Indianapolis.

Walter J. Harper, his father, was buried in Washington Cemetery here after his death in Cleveland in February 1947.

Mr. Harper leaves his widow, his mother and sister as well as his aunt, Mrs. W. A. Melvin of the Creek Road, Washington C. H. Funeral plans have not been announced.

Truck Driver Is Jailed by Police

Dwight Harley McKelvey, 24, Xenia, was rounded up by the police on Columbus Avenue, Tuesday evening, and will face a reckless operation charge.

McKelvey was first sighted on Clinton Avenue driving his truck so fast that Police Chief Vaiden Long, who was at the Brandenburg Garage, radioed police headquarters to trail the truck and pick up the driver.

This was done and McKelvey was placed in the city jail to await hearing in police court Wednesday.

Fayette Group To Take Part At State Fair

Older Rural Youth Group Also to Resume Meetings

The older Rural Youth Group of the county, composed mostly of former 4-H Club members, will take an active part in the organized recreation program Monday, August 30, 7:00 to 9:00 P. M., at the Ohio State Fair.

The recreation program there will be in charge of Grange, Farm Bureau and Extension Service.

The young people from Fayette County will be the nucleus around which the evening's program will center. These people will be contributing to the program of the State Fair and the management has allotted tickets to them for this purpose. Members of the Older Rural Youth Group who can go are to contact County Agent Montgomery.

The group will resume their regular meetings on Monday evening, September 13 at Memorial Hall. The committees appointed for the evening arrangements are: Program, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rowland, Paul Engle and Jeanie Perill. Refreshments, Joe Fisher, Esther Marting and Charles and Lois Duff.

The meeting will include members from Greene, Fayette, and Clinton Counties.

Business during the meeting will be concerned chiefly with the reports and plans involved in running the YBM sponsored excursion train to Cleveland for the Browns-Rockets game Sept. 26.

Pauline Scott is Draft Board Clerk

Mrs. Pauline Scott has been appointed clerk for the Fayette County Selective Service Board, it was announced Tuesday by Chairman Karl J. Kay.

Mrs. Scott was clerk of the draft board when the selective service act was in effect during the war and recently resigned as a deputy in the probate judge's office. Her appointment to the civil service position was announced by Kay shortly after he disclosed the schedule for registration of men in order of age from August 30 to September 18. The oldest of those eligible for the draft, men born after August in 1922, will begin the registration on the 30th of this month on the second floor of the Christopher Building on Court Street over the Morris Store.

Services Held For George W. Morris

Funeral services for George W. Morris were held at 2 P. M. Tuesday at the Harmony Church on the Palmer Road.

Rev. C. S. Thompson of Bowersville was in charge of the services assisted by Rev. A. E. Huntington. Rev. Huntington read the scripture and offered prayer. Rev. Thompson delivered the sermon and paid a personal tribute to Mr. Morris.

The memoir was prepared and read by Mrs. Fred Clemens a lifelong friend of the family and resident of the Harmony community. The Harmony Chapel Choir sang two songs, "Going Down the Valley" and "Good Night and Good Morning". Mrs. Wendell Lutz sang "The Old Rugged Cross" with Mrs. Hugh Campbell at the piano.

The services were largely attended and there was a wealth of beautiful flowers cared for by Miss Anna Alice Frayne, Anna Morris, Helen Thomas, Jessie Mallow, Gladys Palmer and Florence Jacobs.

Burial services in charge of the Gertner Funeral Home were made in the family lot in the Millersville Cemetery. Pallbearers were Clarence Taylor, Jesse Mark, Grant Morgan, Robert Haines, Ulric Acton and Herbert Perrill.

In addition to relatives previously announced, Mr. Morris is survived by two additional daughters, Mrs. Faye Shadley, Sabina, and Mrs. Grace Pendleton, London.

Two From Here Aboard New Aircraft Carrier

Two Washington C. H. men, Forrest D. Whitten, quartermaster, third class, USN, son of Mrs. F. D. Whitten of 229 Green Street, and Kenneth Bogard, boatswain's mate, third class, USN, grandson of Mrs. Ona Conrad of 527 Eastern Avenue are serving aboard the USS Coral Sea CVB 43, which is currently participating in the annual midshipmen's practice cruise.

The Coral Sea is the third and latest addition to the fleet in the battle-carrier class, having been commissioned October 1, 1947. Together with her two sister ships, the Midway and Franklin D. Roosevelt, she is one of the world's largest aircraft carriers.

Give It A CHANCE To Help Feel BETTER

You can help your bowels to act properly by making it a habit to move them at regular times every day. If an occasional attack of bowel sluggishness causes headache or temporary minor intestinal distress, give TONJON Nos. 1 or 2 a chance to remove the waste matter accumulated in the bowels. Then see for yourself how much better you will feel. Caution: Use only as directed. Sold by DOWNTOWN DRUG STORE
